Federal is capitalized only when used as part of a proper noun, e.g. the name of an agency - if referring to the Federal Government, both words are capitalized.

Dear Ms. Mason,

Thank you for taking the time to share your views regarding school and community safety.

In the days following the senseless act of violence that occurred in Parkland, Florida, I hosted students, teachers, educators, and families at the White House for listening sessions on ways to improve both school and community safety. I also brought together lawmakers from both sides of the aisle at the Federal and State levels to discuss ways that we can protect the safety of all Americans, especially our Nation's children.

Not part of proper noun construction

These forums have resulted in concrete actions that will help secure our schools and protect our Nation's communities. I signed into law the STOP School Violence Act of 2018, which will help protect our Nation's youth and educators by authorizing State-based grants to support evidence-based violence prevention programs. I also directed the Department of Justice to issue a rule banning devices, such as bump stocks, that turn legal guns into illegal machine guns. Further, I signed into law legislation that will strengthen background checks by enhancing the accountability of Federal agencies for reporting relevant information to the National Instant Background Check System and by providing grant money to States to support their reporting to the Federal system.

explain "rule"

Thank you again for writing. As President, one of my top priorities is the safety of America's youth, who are the future leaders of our great Nation.

specific agency?

Sincerely,

OMG, this is WRONG!
